DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Halsema et al (the US Patent No. 6,606,055).

The Halsema et al reference teaches in figures 2-4 a method for operably applying a phased array antenna system for a mobile platform, the method comprising: disposing a transmit antenna 60 within at least one antenna housing 22, locating a receive antenna 60 within the at least one antenna housing 22, converting a receive antenna signal to an aircraft communication frequency signal within the at least one antenna housing; changing the aircraft communication frequency signal into a transmit antenna signal within the at least one antenna housing, and transmitting the transmit antenna signal from the transmit antenna (figure 3). Figure 3 shows positioning a converter within each antenna housing, connecting an aircraft transfer power with the converter; and converting the aircraft transfer power to a phased array antenna power with the converter. Figure 3 shows a first frequency converter within the at least one antenna housing, and converting the receive antenna signal to the aircraft communication frequency signal with the first frequency converter. Figures 3 and 4 show a second frequency converter within the at least one antenna housing; and converting the aircraft communication frequency signal to the transmit antenna signal with the second frequency converter. Figure 3 shows the at least one antenna housing as a receive antenna housing and a transmit antenna housing, locating the first frequency converter within the receive antenna housing, and positioning the second frequency converter within the transmit antenna housing. The receive antenna signal from a frequency ranging from approximately 12 GHz to approximately 20 GHz; operating the aircraft communication frequency of approximately 1 GHz; and frequency signal at a transmitting the transmit antenna signal at a frequency ranging from approximately 14 GHz to approximately 44 GHz (col. 5, lines 20-27).
